

Home in Boston

Boston, Massachusetts, United States

A truly original concept that came from the homeowner who wanted to remodel his typical New England architecture home. One Portuguese limestone wall - Crema Regina which crosses the house from one end to the other, proving that a single (extraordinary) idea was sufficient for this house to become unique in the world.

