

Kitchen and Bathrooms at Trv. do Ferragial

Lisbon, Portugal

Three spaces, three marbles: a unique result.

The first bathroom was covered in dramatic Tiger Skin marble, with a white background and marked gray veins. The mirrors that were placed here seem to play with the veins, replicating them as if they were matching pieces. The massive shower tray is also made of Tiger Skin.

The second bathroom in Bianco Carrara marble has a softer atmosphere. This white material with soft gray streaks completed the floor, wall cladding and shower tray.

The kitchen continues in gray tones: flooring and covering between furniture in Ruivina Portuguese marble.
